On a Transcript from the Supreme Court.

This day came John St. Scott Attorney for the Plaintiff and files the following opinion and Judgment of the Supreme Court of Indiana. in the above entitled cause. to wit: November Term AD 1832 Friday November the 30. 1832 The Court met pursuant to adjournment Present the Honorable Isaac Blackford. Stephen C. Stephens. John D. McKinney. Elisha G. English Assignee &c ads Noah Sinks Adminis trator. Error to the Marion Probate Court. At this time came the par ties by their attorneys. and the Court being sufficiently advised of and concerning the premises give the following opinion and judgment. which were pronounced by Judge McKinney. This is an action of Covenant on a writing obligatory. executed by the intestate Snow. It was assigned by the payee to John West and by the latter to the plaintiff. Pleas Non assignment by the payee to John West & Payment by the maker to the payee. Issues on the pleas to the Country. and verdict and Judgment in favor of the plaintiff. By a Bill of exceptions. the Correctness of the opin ion of the Court below in rejecting as a witness in support of the pleas. the defendant in ~~support~~ the action is presented. Perhaps no branch of the law has been more benefited by enlightened adjudication luminous exposi tions and an admirable simplicity than that of evidence. The distinction between Competency and credibility. direct and contingent interest is so clear ly marked so clearly defined That the present question settled by general prin ciple and particular decision would not require special attention, were it not that the Counsel for plaintiff in error has placed it upon the Construction of the Statute organizing Probate Courts. It would seem proper how ever to advert to some of the rules of evidence. before we seek for the defend ants exceptions from their operation in a construction of the Statute ~~for himself~~ In 1 Phill. Ev 56 it is laid down that a party to the suit on record. Can not be a witness for himself or a joint suitor. against the adverse party on account of the immediate & direct interest which he has in the Suit either from having a certain benefit or loss. or from being liable to costs. The Cases of Hunnewell v Bussing 10 John Rep 228 Sharp v Thatcher 2 Dall 77 are illustrative of the rule. In Starkie on Ev 2 vol 1116. 1. it is said the rule which excludes a party from giving evidence in his ~~his~~ own Cause is not founded entirely on the Consideration of his interest. but partly at least on a principle of policy for the prevention of perjury. The Circuit Court of the United States in Watkins et al v Conaqua 1 Peters Rpts. 30 Speak ing of the exclusion of a party to a suit as a witness says "The foundation of the rule is, the interest which the party has in the event of the suit. both as to costs and the subject matter, but on a principal of policy for the pre vention of perjury. a party to a suit is not a competent Witness. The Counsel for the plaintiff in error suppose his client to bear an administrator without this rule not liable to costs, and therefore competent. If this were admitted in relation to costs the admr is unquestionably interested in the subject matter. The defat of the action leaves in his hands as assets the amount that would otherwise be recovered from him. On the proper application of those effects not only he himself but his securities are deeply interested. The successful support of the plea in this case presents a diminution of estate of which he is the representative. By the principle settled in the case of Hillhouse v Smith 5 Days Rep 473. (exclusive of his being a party to the suit) whenever a judgment will certainly effect the fees in which the witness is interested, he is incompetent, the admr was properly rejected. And by Fiske v Whitney 16 Mass R 119 although the estate is insolvent yet the admr. deft. is not a competent witness, in the case of Hackett et al admrs v Mayne 6 Binney R. 16. one of the defts was offered as a witness in support of the defence, exclusive of the question of costs he was rejected. See also Vansant ex Paterson et al 1 Bin Rep 444, without dwelling upon other cases that support the opinion of the Probate Court, it may be only necessary to remark that the case of Carter ex Pierce admr 1 J.R. 165 & others cited by the Counsel for plff in error, do not appear to sustain his position or to conflict with his opinion. We are also of opinion satisfied that it is supported by a proper construction of the Statute referred to. The judgment of the Circuit Court is therefore affirmed. It is therefore considered by the Court now here that the Judgment of the Probate Court in all things be affirmed, which is ordered to be Certified to said Court. And It is further considered that the defendant in error recover of the plaintiff in error the sum of dollars ¢ cents as and for his costs and charges in this behalf laid out and expended, and that the plaintiff be amerced &c. The State of Indiana Supreme Court I. Henry P. Coburn Clerk of said Supreme Court. do hereby certify that the foregoing is a full true and complete copy of the opinion and Judgment of said Court in the above entitled cause. In Testimony whereof I have hereunto subscribed my name and affixed the seal of said Court at Indianapolis this 22d day of January A.D. 1833 H.P. Coburn C.S.C.: ———
